

REFERRAL GUIDE

When to Consult Choice Hospice

Knowing when to reach out is one of the hardest parts of the journey. If any of the signs below sound familiar, it may be time for a conversation — and there is no obligation in asking.

When Should Hospice Become Part of Care?

- ✓ A person has a terminal illness with a prognosis of six months or less.
- ✓ Treatment or interventions are no longer wanted, allowing the disease to take its natural course.
- ✓ There has been unintentional weight loss of 10% or more in the last six months, wounds, or increasing debility.
- ✓ You are simply not sure — call us and we will come out for an evaluation and consult.

Care wherever home is. Hospice services can be delivered in any care setting — at home, in an extended-care or assisted-living facility, in group homes, and even in the hospital when specific criteria are met.
